How to trace your Ancestors in County Monaghan

INTRODUCTION

Before beginning a genealogical search from public records, it is essential to collect as much information as possible about the family which is to be investigated.

"A family tree can wither if nobody tends its roots"

In order to have a reasonable chance of carrying out a successful search, it is generally necessary to know at least three things:

1. The Name of the family
2. The Parish in which they lived (if surname is of the popular variety, then the townland of origin is most important or even perhaps a nickname)
3. Approximate Date

If this information cannot be supplied, a search can still be made in certain records, but the chances of success are small.

"Happiness is a genealogist who just found their lost ancestor!"

STARTING POINT

The starting point for any genealogical search depends on the information one already has. If you are starting with a name, a place and an approximate date, then the best place to begin is as follows:

- For a person living in the 1820's or 1830's – Tithe Applotment Books
- For a person living in the 1850's or 1860's – Griffiths Primary Valuation
- For a person living around 1901 or 1911 – Census Returns

If you also know the date of birth, marriage or death, further details can be sought in different records.

In cases where the Parish or Townland in which the family lived cannot be identified, an index to the Tithe Applotment Books/Griffiths Primary Valuation is available showing the parishes in which each surname appears.

This index is generally of value only where the name is a fairly unusual one. Otherwise it is likely to yield only a long list of persons of the same surname, with no way of knowing which, if any are connected with the particular family being investigated.

Tracing yourself back to better than you"*

SOURCES OF GENEALOGY:

“Every man is his own ancestor and every man his own heir. He devises his own future and he inherits his own past”

A Census of Ireland was taken every 10 years from 1821. Complete sets of enumerator's returns, the original manuscript forms from which the printed census reports were compiled, have only survived for two years – 1901 and 1911. The returns were arranged by townlands or in urban areas by streets.

No enumerator's returns have survived from the census of 1821 – 1891 for County Monaghan.

The 1901 and 1911 census for County Monaghan is available online at www.nationalarchives.ie and on microfilm in the County Library, Clones.

While no complete set of census returns survives for a period prior to 1901, there are two records which provide a partial substitute – Griffiths Primary Valuation and The Tithe Applotments.

- Griffiths Primary Valuation – This was a survey of the land and property carried out between 1847 – 1864, for purposes of local taxation. There is a printed valuation book for each poor law union showing the names of all occupiers of land and buildings and of the persons from whom these were leased, the amount of property held and the value assigned to it. Also available online at www.askaboutireland.ie and in books at all libraries in County Monaghan.
- The Tithe Applotments – These were compiled between 1823 – 1837 for the purpose of determining the amount which occupiers of agricultural holdings were to pay in tithes to the established church, the Church of Ireland. The applotment book for each parish gives the names of occupiers, the amount of land they held and the value assigned to it. Also available online at www.nationalarchives.ie and in books at all libraries in County Monaghan.

Did you know?

The 'Cancelled Land Books' and 'Current Land Books' are available in the Valuation Office, Dublin. These books give details of all changes in holdings, from the time of the original valuation to the present day.

BIRTHS, DEATHS AND MARRIAGES: PARISH REGISTERS:

For most family history researchers, parish registers provide the earliest direct source of family information. These are an excellent source of genealogical research and the best starting point as they include baptisms, marriages and sometimes deaths for all classes of the population. They also pre-date civil registration which did not begin in Ireland until 1864 (Church of Ireland & Anglican marriages were recorded from 1845).

– A search for the greatest treasures,
our ancestors"

Roman Catholic Registers are kept in individual parishes, with every parish having a different starting date for their records. Roman Catholic Registers for the Diocese of Clogher for the period up to 1880 are also available on microfilm at Monaghan County Library, Clones, The National Library of Ireland and The Public Record Office of Northern Ireland, Belfast. These records are now available on a free to view website at www.nli.ie

"Sharing genealogy is a rewarding experience"

Church of Ireland (Anglican) Records are held in a number of different locations. Some original registers are held in the National Archives, Dublin. Others are held in the Representative Church Body Library, Dublin and some are retained in individual parishes. The Public Record Office of Northern Ireland (PRONI) also holds many original and copy registers.

The Monaghan County Library holds a number of Church of Ireland Parish Records on CD Rom and in books, they are: Clontibret, Donagh, Drumsnat & Kilmore, Errigal Shanco, Errigal Truagh, Tydavnet & Tyholland.

Presbyterian Records are held in three main locations: 1. Parishes. 2. The Presbyterian Historical Society, Belfast and in PRONI.

The Monaghan County Library hold a number of Presbyterian Parish Records on CD Rom and in books, they are: Ballyalbany, Braddox, Scotstown, Corlea, Derryvalley (marriages only), Glennan, Cahan's (Births), Legnacreeve & Monaghan First.

"Genealogy is like hide and seek, they hide and I seek"

Monaghan County Library also hold a small number of Parish Registers for Clones, Aughnamullen West, Aughnamullen East, Tullycorbet/Ballybay & Marriages for Errigal Truagh (1837-1849).

Methodist Records are held in PRONI. Records prior to 1820 are found in the Church of Ireland registers.

"Searching for lost relatives? Win the Lottery!"

Quaker records are held in two main repositories 1. Libraries of the Society of Friends in Dublin. 2. Lisburn

Jewish records: Enquiries about Jewish records should be addressed to the Irish Jewish Museum.
