Advantage Monaghan

Located in the north-eastern region of the Republic of Ireland, County Monaghan is a border county with a population of 64,832 characterised by a strong entrepreneurial tradition, a vibrant indigenous SME sector, an excellent quality of life and a strong sense of community. As a business location Monaghan is noteworthy for its close proximity to multiple major urban centres in the north-eastern region, as well as several major shipping ports and international airports.

Monaghan is home to a diverse range of businesses including both highly successful local firms and foreign multinationals that use the county as their regional base. Businesses located in the county enjoy access to a range of services from enterprise-supporting agencies including IDA Ireland, Enterprise Ireland and the Local Enterprise Office. Monaghan County Council supports economic activity within the county as part of its core remit.

County Monaghan has a thriving business community characterised by entrepreneurial spirit and global ambition. Multiple indigenous firms have grown to achieve truly global reach, including:

- ABP Food Group
- Combilift
- Greenfield Foods
- Kerry Foods
- Kingspan Group
- Lakeland Dairies
- Mallon Foods
- McAree Engineering
- Monaghan Mushrooms
- Mullen Lighting
- Shabra Plastics
- Silver Hill Duck

Over the past 50 years County Monaghan has successfully attracted major FDI projects such as:

- Abbott (USA)
- Americold (USA)
- Computershare (UK)
- European Chemical Industries (Germany)
- Feldhues Gmbh (Germany)
- Gernord (France)

A strategic location

Monaghan lies at the centre of Ireland's dynamic north-eastern M1 Economic Corridor connecting Dublin and Belfast

A strategic business location

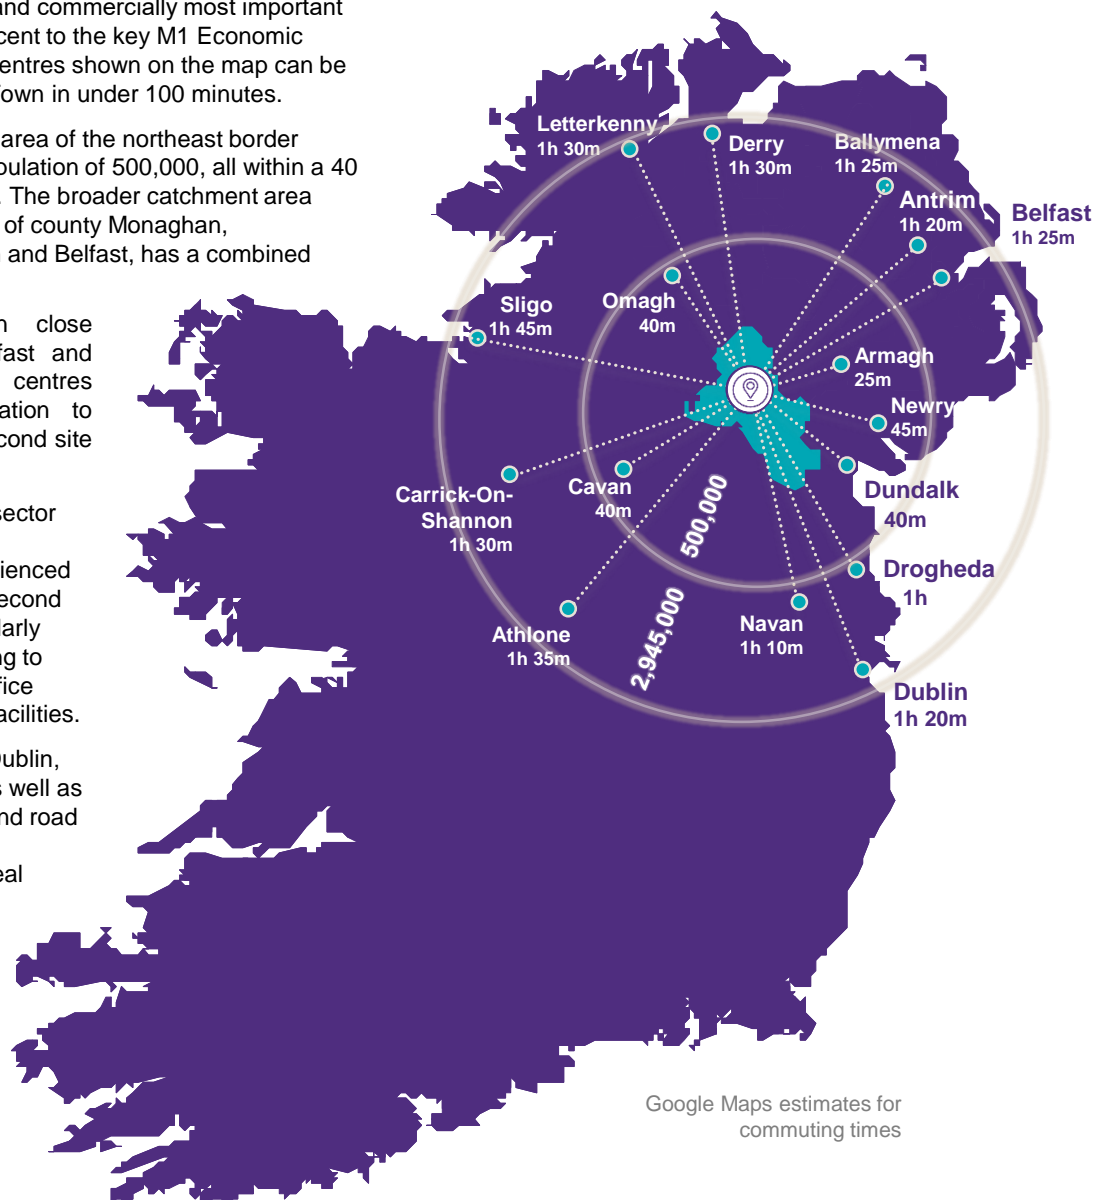

County Monaghan is a short distance from many of the island of Ireland's largest and commercially most important urban centres, and is adjacent to the key M1 Economic Corridor. All of the urban centres shown on the map can be reached from Monaghan Town in under 100 minutes.

The immediate catchment area of the northeast border region has a combined population of 500,000, all within a 40 minute drive of Monaghan. The broader catchment area within an 100 minute drive of county Monaghan, encompassing both Dublin and Belfast, has a combined population of 2,945,000.

Monaghan's position in close proximity to Dublin, Belfast and many other large urban centres makes it an ideal location to establish an affordable second site location.

The commercial property sector capacity and affordability constraints currently experienced in Dublin have made the second site location model particularly compelling for firms seeking to avail of more affordable office space or remote working facilities.

Monaghan's proximity to Dublin, Belfast and the regions, as well as its position on a major inland road artery between Dublin and Donegal, make it an an ideal second site location.

Google Maps estimates for commuting times

Monaghan lies in close proximity to several of the island of Ireland's most important ports

Proximity to Ireland's major ports and airports

Irish port traffic accounts for over 90% of trade moved in and out of Ireland and facilitates an average of 4.5 million foot and car passengers per annum. Ireland's port infrastructure plays a vital role in the day to day functioning of trade and travel for people and commodities as they move in and out of the island of Ireland.

Monaghan lies in close proximity to thirteen major Irish ports, including Dublin and Belfast.

As a result, businesses in county Monaghan enjoy easy access to markets around the globe through this network of world class port and harbour infrastructure.

Monaghan's location adjacent to the M1 Economic Corridor is particularly beneficial in this regard.

Monaghan is also within 80 minutes of the island of Ireland's key international airports.

Over 45 million passengers pass through airports on the island of Ireland each year. In addition, over 200,000 tonnes of air freight cargo is handled annually at airports across the island of Ireland. As a result, Ireland's airports play a critical role in connecting communities and businesses across the globe.

Broadband Connectivity

Businesses in towns such as Monaghan, Carrickmacross, Castleblaney and Clones enjoy access to excellent fibre broadband

Broadband Connectivity

There are comprehensive high speed broadband networks available to business throughout County Monaghan. These include a variety of connection options and different cost points, from high end commercial circuits to xDSL options for users and small businesses in most towns and villages throughout the county. Businesses in towns such as Monaghan, Carrickmacross, Castleblaney and Clones enjoy access to excellent fibre broadband connectivity.

Project Kelvin

Project Kelvin is an extensive submarine and terrestrial fibre cable deployment that is brought ashore at Coleraine in County Derry. This industry-leading fibre optic submarine cable offers companies options for high speed connectivity to Britain, Europe and America and has been critical in facilitating the development of enterprises along the northeastern Irish economic corridor stretching from Donegal to Monaghan and onwards to Dublin and Belfast. The Kelvin network runs straight through county Monaghan and passes the major towns of Monaghan and Castleblaney, providing a high capacity, secure and reliable network for local businesses.

The Agri-Food sector

County Monaghan is an agriculture industry centre of excellence

An agricultural industry leader

Monaghan is one of Ireland's leading centres for the production of premium food produce. The food industry in the county is a key employer and 90% of its produce is exported. Agriculture provides 12.5% of total employment in County Monaghan, as compared to a national average of 5%. Food companies account for 9 out of the top 10 employers in the county and include:

1. Manor Farm
2. ABP Food Group
3. Kerry Foods (Rye Valley)
4. Kepak Limited
5. Lakeland Dairies
6. Monaghan Mushrooms
7. Silver Hill Duck
8. Mallon Foods
9. Tieraneill Mushrooms

Monaghan is home to some of the largest food producing firms in Ireland, many of which export to international markets across the globe.

At the same time, Monaghan's food sector is also characterised by highly successful smaller firms that offer boutique premium produce.

Some of the defining characteristics of Monaghan's agri-food sector include leadership, sustainability, innovation and collaboration. Monaghan's well established agri-food firms have established the scale and reputation required to reach markets across the globe. These same companies are also deeply committed to agricultural sustainability, in line with government policy and the Irish agri-food sector more broadly. All of the top 10 Origin Green member firms in Ireland are present in County Monaghan. County Monaghan's track record in the agri-food sector makes it an ideal business location. County Monaghan offers:

- Experience and a strong reputation in food processing and production
- A diverse range of product manufacturing
- High quality local inputs
- A range of locally available support services

County Monaghan is an agri-food industry centre of excellence

County Monaghan: a food production and processing centre of excellence

Ballybay Food Hub

County Monaghan is one of Ireland's key food producing centres and is home to both national and international food companies. The food industry in the county is a key employer and 90% of all food produced in the county is exported to markets across the globe.

Building upon these key strengths, the Ballybay Food Hub offers test kitchen facilities, 500 ft² starter units and 1,500 ft² larger units for both start-ups and established businesses to test their new food product ideas before scaling up. The Ballybay Food Hub is the ideal environment for start-up and expanding food businesses in the area.

Lough Egish Food Park

Lough Egish, a village in the south of the county has developed into a key national food hub. This food production experience started with Lough Egish Co-operative and Dairy Society which was established in 1901 and is now part of Lakeland Dairies. From those early beginnings, the village has become an established food focussed industrial area.

Lough Egish Food Park is Ireland's largest integrated food hub. The park has been designed with the specific needs of the island of Ireland's food industry in mind. The 60 acre site boasts all of the services food manufacturers require, such as potable water supply, its own on-site electricity supply substation, piped natural gas and an effluent treatment system more than capable of handling all the needs of occupants.

The idea of the Lough Egish Food Park is to build upon the well established food and agri-food industry base in Monaghan and to create a centre of food excellence. The park provides centralised services that allow companies to reduce their setup and running costs and focus on what they do best – great quality food production.

Sample a taste of the Drumlin County

A food and drink centre of excellence

Monaghan has a unique food landscape with some of the largest food producers in Ireland in the region operating side by side with a relatively small number of innovative artisan producers. Monaghan's restaurants, cafes, hotels and bars have a reputation for serving locally grown and sustainably sourced produce, and have won multiple prestigious awards in recent years.

The Monaghan and Glaslough region was shortlisted in the Restaurants' Association of Ireland (RAI) top ten food destinations in Ireland 2019. Located in Ballybay, Dinkins Home Bakery and Café was awarded the Best Café in Ulster award at the 2019 Irish Restaurant Awards, while the Coach House and Olde Bar in Glaslough village was awarded Best Pub in the province.

A Taste of Monaghan

Established in 2009, Taste of Monaghan is a major annual culinary festival held in Monaghan Town. The festival emphasises local culinary culture and heritage, and adopts a unique theme each year.

Monaghan Street Food Festival

In September 2019 the Taste of Monaghan festival was transformed into the Monaghan Street Food festival, a celebration of Monaghan's food scene featuring demonstrations from local chefs. Fifty exhibitors participated in the festival, including food trucks, baked goods stalls, baristas and craft beer brewers. All street food exhibitors were encouraged to source and use local products in their dishes, highlighting the quality and variety of local produce.

Monaghan's Fine Dining Options

One of the shining examples of Monaghan's culinary culture is the Courthouse Restaurant in Carrickmacross. The Courthouse holds Bib Gourmand status in the Michelin Guide for Great Britain & Ireland. The restaurant opened its doors in October 2009 and is located in an old town house beside the courthouse in Carrickmacross. The county is also home to the renowned Castle Leslie, Nuremore Hotel and Country Golf Club as well as Concra Wood Golf and Country Club.

The Engineering Sector

Many major Monaghan-based firms in the engineering sector have achieved global success

Monaghan's strengths in the engineering sector

County Monaghan has been an engineering sector centre of excellence for decades. Several indigenous and foreign engineering firms have achieved global success while using County Monaghan as their location of choice.

Monaghan's outstanding track record in the engineering sector and its highly educated workforce make it an excellent location to source highly skilled labour for the engineering sector. Some of County Monaghan's noteworthy engineering sector firms include:

- Combilift
- Entekra
- Errigal Engineering
- Finn Precision Engineering
- McAree Engineering
- Leonard Steel

Current facilities available in County Monaghan & planned new developments

Enterprising Monaghan

Monaghan County Enterprise Fund (T/A Enterprising Monaghan) was established in 1988 as a social enterprise initiative. The mission of the Fund is to facilitate high value economic development and bring high net worth projects and jobs to County Monaghan. This is achieved by providing affordable workspace solutions, local know-how and guidance to its clients. Enterprising Monaghan (EM) operates 8 facilities at five locations across County Monaghan. The company also works closely with other key partners such as Castleblayney Community Enterprise which manages one of the county's first business hubs.

EM has links with further and higher education institutions such as Monaghan Institute (MI), Dundalk IT (DkIT), Queen's University Belfast (QUB) and the College of Agriculture Food and Rural Enterprise (CAFRE). EM also has strategic alliances and collaborative projects with the local and regional enterprise agencies, engineering and food networks.

The company works closely with its strategic partners including Monaghan County Council in the identification and support of projects that will bring sustainable economic development and high value jobs to the county.

Enterprising Monaghan's facilities within the county are host to 46 enterprises and organisations which between them employ over 300 people. These clients include public, private and voluntary sector bodies. EM's clients are actively engaged in business activities across Ireland, the UK, EU and the USA. For some of EM's clients, their Enterprising Monaghan office is their main Irish and European Union HQ.

The company is also developing a new Digi-hub at its M:Tek 1 building in Monaghan Town as well as working closely with the local Council and Castleblayney Community Enterprise in the development of The Ridge (pictured below) which is the proposed new business incubation hub for that town.

The Ridge, Castleblayney

IDA Ireland

Advanced Technology Unity

IDA Ireland is Ireland's inward investment promotion agency. The IDA is a non-commercial, semi-state body that promotes FDI into Ireland through a wide range of services. The agency partners with potential and existing investors to help them establish or expand their operations in Ireland. IDA Ireland's advanced building solutions offer ready-for-occupation, high specification, flexible and sustainable property solutions, suitable for high value manufacturing and global business services to support the winning of investments from FDI clients.

IDA Ireland has recently selected Monaghan as the location for a new Advanced Technology Building (ATB). The 1,350 m² property will be located at the Monaghan Business & Technology park at Knockaconny. The development is part of IDA Ireland's wider Regional Property Programme (RPP). The Government-funded programme was announced in 2015 as part of IDA Ireland's strategy "Winning FDI 2015-2019" to develop property solutions in regional locations. As part of its regional focus IDA Ireland is investing €150m over five years. Additional funding was allocated in Budget 2019 for the next phase of the programme, for which Monaghan is included along with counties Louth, Carlow, Sligo, Westmeath, Waterford, Limerick and Galway.

M:Tek 1 Digi-hub – Monaghan Town

The proposed M:Tek 1 Digi-hub has been designed to accommodate the growing need for hot-desking and remote working facilities in county Monaghan. The proposed development will be linked to EM's current M:Tek 1 building and will co-share the existing canteen and breakout areas.

M:Tek 4 development

The planned M:Tek 4 development will be located on the Enterprising Monaghan Knockaconny Business Campus. This new state-of-the-art three storey facility will be ideal for supporting new FDI into County Monaghan and for Brexit-related initiatives. The existing infrastructure in the area, including close proximity to the Kelvin Cable, will mean that high tech and high value projects can easily locate in this new facility. Existing companies on the business campus include national and international organisations who rely on this infrastructure to undertake their work nationally and globally.

The tourism and hospitality sector

A popular and attractive tourism destination

Monaghan’s vibrant tourism sector

County Monaghan, with its extensive natural resources and the quality of its rural landscape, is an attractive and well established tourist destination. The county’s famed hospitality, scenic towns and villages, festivals, cultural heritage and many outdoor amenities have made Monaghan a favourite destination for visitors from abroad and across the island of Ireland. Some of Monaghan’s key attractions include:

- Castle Leslie
- Concra Wood
- Patrick Kavanagh Centre
- Rally School
- Rossmore Forest Park
- Lough Muckno
- Bragan Mountain
- World class angling and golf offerings

The county’s location in close proximity to Dublin and Belfast, as well as other regional airports and ferry landing points, is also a distinct advantage.

Monaghan County Council Tourism Statement of Strategy and Work Programme

Monaghan County Council has published a Statement of Strategy and Work Programme for the tourism sector for 2017-2022. The document identifies opportunities for the county to strengthen tourist numbers and revenue from the global tourism market, specifically prioritising:

- Product/Experience Development
- Festivals & Events
- Marketing & Promotion

The document also prioritises counteracting an over-reliance on the British tourist market, and:

- Developing natural and built heritage assets; and
- Strengthening product development, specifically for the activity and outdoor adventure sector.

Monaghan’s extensive natural resources, diverse wildlife and scenic rural landscape mean that the county is well positioned to take advantage of the global growth in demand for eco tourism. The development of the Ballybay Wetlands Centre is a particularly noteworthy example of the strength of the county’s eco tourism offering.

Monaghan is a highly cost competitive location to live, work and invest

An affordable location to do business

The profitability of any business will always ultimately be determined by its cost base. One of the key advantages of County Monaghan as a business location is its cost competitiveness. Average labour costs are consistently substantially lower across all staffing grades in County Monaghan as compared to other locations across Ireland such as Dublin, Galway or Cork. Whereas the average salary for an operations manager in county Monaghan is €37,950, average salaries for the same grade are substantially higher in Dublin (€50,474), Galway (€39,313) and Cork (€50,840) (see Appendix B).

Commercial property rental prices are also substantially cheaper in County Monaghan than in other locations in Ireland. Industrial rents can range from €6-€10 per ft² in Dublin, €5-€8.50 per ft² in Cork and €5-€7.50 per ft² in Galway. At €3-€5 per ft², County Monaghan has some of the most affordable industrial property rents in Ireland. Similarly, office rents are substantially cheaper in Monaghan across all office grades.

An affordable location to raise a family

As well as being an affordable place to invest and do business, County Monaghan is also a highly affordable location to live and raise a family. In contrast to Ireland's large urban centres, where escalating property and childcare costs have come to consume an ever larger share of workers' disposable incomes, Monaghan has remained highly cost competitive in these critical areas.

At 56%, Monaghan has the second highest proportion of community-based childcare service provision in the state. This contrasts with other jurisdictions where only a small proportion of childcare service seekers can be accommodated in community facilities, most notably Dublin-Fingal (5%), Kildare (5%), Meath (10%), Wicklow (12%) and South Dublin (15%). For those that do avail of private childcare services in County Monaghan, these are among the most affordable in the state.

When compared to other locations a far lower proportion of Monaghan residents' income is absorbed by the cost of renting a home

Affordable rental accommodation

One of Monaghan's key advantages is its affordability as a place to live, work and raise a family. In contrast to Ireland's major cities and Greater Dublin's commuter belt counties, average monthly rents in County Monaghan are amongst the lowest in the country.

While the cost of renting a home has come to take up a greater proportion of average household incomes for renters in Ireland's major cities and Greater Dublin over the past decade, the opposite is true for Monaghan. The share of average household income absorbed by the cost of renting a three bed semi detached home has fallen by 1.9% in County Monaghan over the past decade. By contrast, a greater share of household income has been absorbed by this expense in counties such as Meath (+11%) and Kildare (+4.4%) over the same period. This makes the cost of living and raising a family more financially rewarding for Monaghan's residents. (See Appendix C)

What our business leaders say...

Eamonn O’Sullivan, CEO, Monaghan County Council

“Monaghan has over 100 years of agri-food production experience in its DNA, with dairy, beef, poultry, duck and mushroom production at the heart of the economy. The county is also home to a strong local engineering sector with truly innovative companies exporting globally from Monaghan. Innovation and technology have been the key to the success of Monaghan businesses, be they local or international.”

Martin McVicar, CEO, Combilift

Combilift is the largest global manufacturer of multi-directional forklifts and an acknowledged leader in long load handling solutions. Combilift exports 98% of its production to over 85 countries with more than 50,000 units manufactured since its establishment in 1998. Combilift employs more than 650 people and occupies a brand new, purpose-built facility in Monaghan. The 46,500 m² purpose built global headquarters and manufacturing facility is set on a 100 acre site with room for future expansion. With 11 acres of roof space, it is one of the largest manufacturing operations under one single roof in the Republic of Ireland.

“Combilift is committed to growing its business from Monaghan” says Martin McVicar, Chief Executive and co-founder. “Monaghan is a great location to serve our export markets given its location between Belfast and Dublin Airport. It allows our visiting customers and dealers to easily travel to Monaghan and vice versa within 1 hour and 15 minutes. We are also located between 2 ports which offers additional shipping and sailing times into Europe and transatlantic ports. Monaghan’s broadband infrastructure with access to Project Kelvin also enables faster broadband connections to North America and Europe. Our state-of-the-art production plant combined with the availability of a skilled workforce locally with a can-do attitude has allowed us to double production in the past 5 years.”

Andrew Moore, President of Governance Services at Computershare

“Monaghan’s excellent transport links, as well as the large number of graduates, skilled and talented workers based locally, have helped Computershare run a highly successful office in the county for over 12 years.”

Jason Whooley, CEO, Bio-marine Ingredients Ireland

“We are a specialist marine bio-tech research and production company which is jointly owned by Irish fishermen and a Norwegian bio-tech company. County Monaghan has proved to be an ideal location for this project. The people and their can-do attitude are superb, and we are centrally located to all the key ferry ports and airports. Couldn’t ask for more!”

Claire McAree, CFO, McAree Engineering

“McAree Engineering is one of Ireland’s largest sheet metal fabrication companies supplying Ireland’s leading original equipment manufacturers with a team of over 150 staff out of three factories in North Monaghan. Our business is supported by educational and training support from Monaghan Institute, our local post-secondary college which has strong relationships with the Cavan Monaghan Education & Training Board. The county has a plentiful supply of local skilled resources with a great entrepreneurial ethos which is another major attraction for us. All of this, coupled with an abundance of local social amenities, means that Monaghan is a great place to work and live.”

Marie Mohan, Financial Controller, Greenfield Foods

“Greenfield is Ireland’s largest egg producer and we supply retailers and catering customers throughout Ireland and the UK. We are also proud of our farm to fork traceability and our free range, corn fed and organic ranges. We feel that Co. Monaghan is an ideal business location and this fact has served us well over the years. The company has grown organically and we are delighted with the help and support of state agencies such as Enterprise Ireland and InterTrade Ireland who have helped us along that journey.”

Residential property purchase prices for first time buyers in County Monaghan are among the most affordable in the county

An affordable location for first time buyers

One of the most pressing challenges facing young professionals in Ireland today is the unaffordability of home ownership. The average purchase price for first time buyers of residential property nationally in Ireland in 2021 was €221,330, an increase of 34.9% as compared to 2013. Average prices for first time buyers in County Dublin have reached €406,864, an increase of 86.8% over the same period. The combination of rapid property price inflation and stringent macroprudential mortgage lending measures has left many young professionals effectively trapped in the rental sector.

County Monaghan is one of the most affordable locations in Ireland to purchase a property. The average purchase price for residential property for first time buyers in County Monaghan in 2021 was €149,322.

House price inflation in Monaghan has also remained largely in step with the national average, while also being distinctly more affordable. Average purchase prices for first time buyers have risen by 6.1% over the past five years. Owning a home in County Monaghan clearly represents a sound investment decision.
